

At School

You do more research on the program.
The next day at school...

Many friends confront you and ask in a judgmental tone, "Why aren't you going to study abroad at a "cool" country, like AUS or UK or some other Western country?"

How do you react?

"There's a lack of appreciation of unfamiliar cultures."

"I want to learn about my roots."

At School

You reply, "Hmm... Seeing that my peers are so focused on appreciating and learning about certain cultures, I have decided to go study abroad!"

You tell your parents that night, and they fully support your decision!

You go to China this summer
